ARTIST'S BIO

Born in Chicago in 1972, Matt Siber grew up next to Boston in Brookline, MA. With a Bachelor's degree in History and Geography from the University of Vermont (1994), he has an MFA in Photography from Columbia College Chicago (2003). He has worked as a commercial photographer for such clients as St. Lawrence University, The Salvation Army and Hooked on the Outdoors Magazine. Now primarily a gallery artist, his artwork is part of the permanent collections of the Art Institute of Chicago and the Museum of Contemporary Photography and is represented by Peter Miller Gallery in Chicago, Galeria Antoni Pinyol in Reus, Spain, and Galeria La Fabrica in Madrid. His images have been published internationally in such publications as ArtForum, Flash Art, Aperture and EXIT Magazine and he has received grants from the Aaron Siskind Foundation and the Illinois Arts Council. Matt also teaches beginning and advanced digital imaging at Columbia College Chicago.
